FOIA No. 2013-159

Dear Mr. Musgrave:

This letter responds to your recent Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") requests received by the Federal Communications Commission (the "FCC or Commission") and assigned to the Consumer & Governmental Affairs ("CGB") and Enforcement ("EB") Bureaus. Your requests seek copies of all "documents pertaining to the identities and actions taken against unsolicited calls from Account Services and/or Cardholder Services."

On February 20, 2013, Mike Hennigan of my staff contacted your office to discuss your request. Mr. Hennigan was advised by you at that time that you would speak with your clients regarding the scope of their requests. On February 21, 2013, Mr. Hennigan sent you an email asking that you contact him. On February 27, 2013, Mr. Hennigan sent you another email asking whether or not the FCC should move forward with closing your requests since he had not heard back from you. In an email dated February 27, 2013, you advised Mr. Hennigan that you were still waiting to hear back from your clients regarding the five FOIA requests.

Because we have received no response from you regarding our February 27, 2013, conversation, we will assume that you are not interested in proceeding with your request, and will close our files for FOIA No. 2013-159. Also, under the FOIA rules, the FCC is given a statutory time limit of 20 days to respond to FOIA requests. Our statutory time limit for FOIA 2013-159 is March 1, 2013. You may file a new request at any time.

Sincerely,

for Nancy Stevenson
Deputy Chief
